Police Commissioner Balow, Secretary of State Kosciusko and Attorney-General Mullaney are to hold a conference early this week on the enforcement of the new automobile law in and after August 1 in the city of New York. The conference was called by the Police Commissioner. He sent word to Chief Examiner Elliott, who is in charge of the automobile bureau established by Secretary of State Kosciusko in New York at 22 West Seventy-fourth street, that he would like to have a conference with the Secretary or his representative and he also suggested that the Attorney-General or one of his deputies be present.

It is the intention of those who are charged with the responsibility of putting the new Cullen law into operation to see that it is enforced from the start. The Secretary of State does not intend that any hardship shall be visited upon chauffeurs who are ignorant of the new law but he does propose that they shall be reminded that it is necessary for them to procure a license under the Cullen act after they have been examined as to their ability to operate motor vehicles in the streets and highways.

For the first week or so all those who are found operating without a license will be taken to the New York headquarters and will have a chance to file their applications for examination at once. If they are found driving a machine a second time without a license they will be taken into court and made to pay the severe penalty attached to violation of the law. The same regulation will apply to owners who are found using motor vehicles that are not registered as required by the Cullen law.

The first number plates under the new law will be issued this week. They will be sent out as rapidly as they are secured from the manufacturers, who have agreed to supply them promptly every day beginning today.

William H. Buckley, who was brought into notoriety because of his operations in securing and regarding legislation for insurance companies, has registered a 30-horse-power limousine car and secured No. 28. Another man in New York city has registered seven electric cars, family living in Ocean Avenue in Brooklyn has registered over a dozen machines of various makes and descriptions.

Henry W. Taft, President Taft's brother, has registered two autos. He has a home in Greenwich No. 3837, and a small tourist car with a garage on No. 442.

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont has registered six French cars, including limousines, runabouts, limousines and touring cars. Mrs. Belmont has entered her cars under the name of Alva E. Belmont. George E. Ide of the Home Life Insurance Company of New York got for his 10-horse-power touring car "Dawn" in Kingsley has also registered a 10-horse-power car and got No. 96.

The Adams Express Company has the largest registry in number of cars. About a score of numbers have been assigned to the Adams Express company. George Ehrhardt, brewer, next with about a dozen cars. The Old Dutch Company also has a very large number of registrars, and the Consolidated Gas Company is not far behind with several cars.

The city of New York has thus far failed to send in the registry of its numerous cars to the state throughout the departments of the city government and it has only two weeks more to go before the city's only State department is far ahead from the Highways Commission.

Among noted owners of autos who have not been registered to date are Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Republican State Chairman Timothy J. Woodruff, Mayor William J. Gaynor, Charles F. Murphy, Gov. White, ex-Gov. R. R. Odell, Jr., Senators George Davis of Buffalo, George Agnew of New York and Jack Rose of Newburgh, ex-Judge Augustus Van Wyck and former Comptroller Herman A. Metz.

The receipts for registry and licenses are now coming in at the rate of about $800 a day. Secretary of State Kosciusko is awaiting each day's applications on the day of their receipt. In order to do this he has preempted the legislative committee room of the capital and put day and night there to work. He was unable to get all the help he needed in Albany and had to send to New York and other cities for men and women clerks and typewriters.

The second examination of chauffeurs in New York city will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the bureau at 227 West Seventy-fourth street, opposite the Hotel Elliott has the system of examination perfect now that he can handle 1,200 men a day. There are over 30,000 chauffeurs in the greater city and at the rate of applications are coming in not half of them will be licensed on August 1. It will be very awkward for those who have failed to get their license to appear before the Hotel Elliott and his assistants are ready and have the facilities to handle all who are sent to them from the Secretary of State's office. All applications are first filed with the Secretary in Albany and he sends notice of the examinations. Examinations will be held every day this week if there are enough applications filed in the Albany office.

RING TURNED OUT BAD

Bruhn's Deal in Diamonds Lost Him $25
He Bought Only a Copy.

August Bruhn of Washington Park, Elmhurst, was going through Forty-second street on July 13 when he met a man who wanted to sell him a diamond ring set with two stones. The ring, said the stranger, was worth $100 easy, but he was down and out and had part with it for $25. Bruhn took the ring to a nearby jeweler and had it appraised.

"Good as gold," said the jeweler. "Worth every bit of $100." So Bruhn bought the ring. He did not have the twenty-five with him, so the seller accompanied him to Elmhurst and got a loan to look at it a second time.

"This ring isn't worth 25 cents," said the jeweler. "It's a brass ring set with glass, but it is an exact duplicate of the other."

On Friday night Bruhn again was walking through Forty-second street when he saw the man who sold him the ring. He called Traffic Policeman Xihell and had the ring man arrested. The prisoner said he was Harry Davis, a ticket speculator, of 78 Lenox avenue. He said he sold rings in the summer and denied any connection with the ring transaction in Jefferson Market, New York, yesterday. Magistrate Breiden held Davis in $1,000 bail for trial on the charge of grand larceny.

D. R. Runs Summer School

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 17.—The Eagle Rock Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has opened a summer school and playground in Maple Avenue, Montclair. Five hundred children are registered at the school, which is intended to teach the children basic health, safety and other useful occupations in the vacation period. The children also have the opportunity for recreation outdoors under the direction of instructors in physical culture.

OUT OF JAIL.

In for Workhouse Sentence, She Poses as "Disorderly" and Gets Away When

and He Are Caught in the Next Day.

Ruth Rosher, a negro, 25 years old,
who says she is an actress, was sentenced on Friday to the workhouse by Magistrate
Appleton in the West Side police court on a charge of disorderly conduct. She escaped from the West Side prison on Friday night but after all didn't stay long at liberty.

Her method of getting out was simple.
On Friday a white woman, Lizzie Mackay,
22 years old, who is employed in the Hotel
Manhattan, was fined $5 by Magistrate
Appleton for being drunk and disorderly.
She couldn't pay the fine and started in to serve her five days. This negro met her in jail and prevailed upon her for $3
to help out and to tell the pedigree Lizzie Mackay had given. Then she wrote a letter to her husband to call for her under the name of Lizzie Mackay and to pay the fine, which was due.

Frank Bosher, who is a waiter, about a clock Friday night called at the jail
and inquired of Keeper George Riedel, who was in charge, if he had a woman
named Matilda Mackay. "No," said Bosher, "but we have Lizzie."
"Does she work in the Manhattan Hotel?" asked Rosher.

"Yes," answered Riedel.
"What have they done with her?" asked Rosher.

"She was fined $5 but I will get her out,"
said the keeper.

After paying the fine and Riedel called out through the tube to the woman's apartment for the liberation of Lizzie Mackay.

Matron Maria Kelly called through the tube for Lizzie Mackay. At first there was no response. On her second call Ruth Rosher answered the tube and said,
"We've got Lizzie Mackay here." Matron Kelly called back through the tube to Riedel, "but she's a colored woman."

Well, it's a colored man come to pay her fine, so I guess it's all right," Riedel responded and Ruth Rosher descended to the office.

It is customary in the jails on the liberation of convicts to make them repeat pedigrees which they have given upon entrance to the workhouse.

Magistrate Appleton fined Carter $5 and sent Riedel to the workhouse on a charge of disorderly conduct.

It was not till the next morning that the deception was discovered. Then a general alarm was sent out for the woman.

Commissioner of Correction Patrick A.
Whitney was also notified and he lost no time hurrying to the jail. He was mad exactly like the one he had had appraised.

PLUNDERED A VIOLINIST.

Forrest Cheney of 236 West Forty-ninth street, who used to be violinist in the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra and who is now playing on the Keith & Proctor circuit, boarded a Twenty-third street streetcar at the Hudson River on July 6 laden with two suitcases.

Some men on the back platform jostled him and one of them put his hand in Cheney's left coat pocket and there was $100.

Cheney grabbed the hand and let out a yell. The owner of the hand and the two men pursued by Max Abramson, a lawyer, of Broadway, and Alexander Charney, a restaurant manager, of 100 Centre street, came in company with his suitcases brought up the rear. The fugitives got away with the money.

Cheney gave the police a description of the man who took his money. On Friday they picked up Aaron Ross, 26
West Fortieth street, whose home is at 301
West Fortieth street, but under the pretext of changing her clothing she brought the two policemen to 309, opposite her house. Then she had another negro go to her home for the clothing.

From 100 to 125 negroes are said that the woman's husband was at home, although the woman had told him he had left town and that she was about to leave when arrested. While Klossett watched his prisoner Barry went to the couple's home on the top floor of 301. He couldn't get admission and so he went to the roof of the house, which he dropped a distance of twelve feet to the fire escape outside the Ross window. They were locked, but he had broken in and was entering the place when arrested. While Klossett watched his

The WONDER! WORKER Shoe Machinery.

Not only are the so-called Leases of the United Shoe Machinery Company in the opinion of eminent lawyers, invalid and unenforceable, but the "WONDER WORKER" MACHINES are, in the opinion of shoe manufacturers, far superior.

Many of the largest and most prominent shoe manufacturers in the country, with their experts, have spent from one to three days each carefully examining the Plant Company's complete factory equipment of "Wonder Worker" shoe machinery in practical operation, turning out thousands of pairs of shoes daily.

Opinion of Mr. H. B. Endicott, of the Endicott-Johnson Company, Boston, and a director of the United Shoe Machinery Company.

Mr. Thomas G. Plant.

My Dear Mr. Plant:

"I wish to thank you for a very interesting day spent yesterday going through your works, and consider it was a very great privilege to be allowed to do so. To be perfectly frank with you, it was a great surprise to me and to my partner, and my experts who were with me. We expected to find machines making Women's welt shoes more or less indifferently, or a sort of make-shift set of machines, by comparison with those in use in other factories; but what we did find was a perfect working set of machinery, all working in harmony and turning out a very fine grade of woman's shoe. In my judgment and that of my experts, what you showed us was by far the most perfect working set of machinery that we have ever seen, or expected to see, and we are satisfied that shoes are being and can be produced on these machines that are not elsewhere in every respect.

"These machines have features, besides the mere saving in royalty, that cannot fail to be attractive to machinery users.

"Thanking you again for the privilege extended to me, I am."

Yours truly,

H. B. ENDICOTT.
